

BIO

Like some others, inspirational speaker and author, Taneshia Marshall (professionally known as TMarshal), works to use tumultuous experiences from the past as a catapult to achieve success in all areas.

Through years of physical, sexual and emotional abuse; placed in various shelters and foster homes; living homeless at 17, TMarshal set out on a quest to find her true purpose for being on this planet. Walking the path with other professional speakers, TMarshal shares not only her story, but also educates to inspire people to reach for their fullest potential. She believes anyone is capable of living a desirable life and teaches how to change internally to achieve outer excellence. Perseverance is for everyone and not just for a story like hers. TMarshal's fusion of real-life experiences and conversational techniques connect with audiences at an intimate level.

TMarshal has worked with underserved youth and professionals for years. She is an expert on "intrinsic re-conditioning" and her workshops continue to spread positivity to organizations, academia, small businesses and corporations.

The creator of many self-improvement systems, TMarshal's penetrating advice on achieving personal success has been shared with all walks of life around the globe.

Agencies such as The Children's Center of Detroit, Fortune 100 company Johnson Controls and conferences sponsored by the media publication Black Enterprise have partnered with Ms. Marshall when looking for notable speakers.

"TMarshal does not speak to impress an audience. She speaks to connect with the audience!"

- Les Brown (World Renowned Speaker and Mentor)

Prior to founding TLM Global ULTD and the Age Out Foundation, TMarshal, achieved an impressive career with over a decade of experience with industry leaders in Energy and Sustainability, Pharmaceuticals, Automotive and Consulting. After achieving a B.S. in engineering and pursuits in graduate studies, TMarshal has held noteworthy positions and highly regarded by her peers for her management and leadership skills. Utilizing these skills have helped her deliver successful courses in retention, diversity, goal setting, project management and leadership.

Contact Information:

Email: empower@tmarshal.com